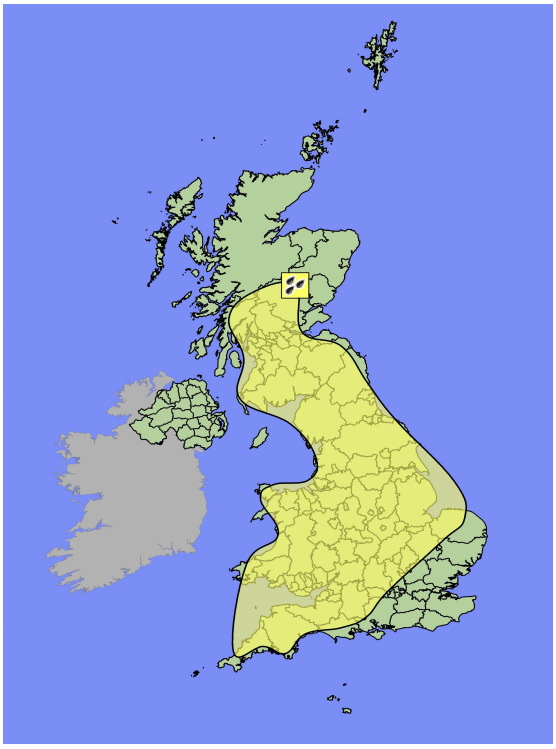
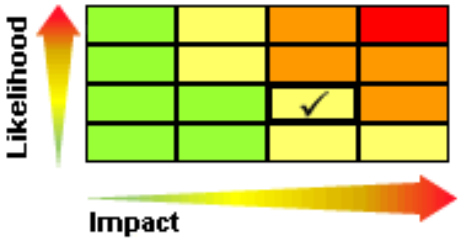
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
An area of low pressure will move slowly northeast from southwest England through Sunday. Some heavy and thundery downpours are expected, these more likely through the afternoon and evening. There is a high risk of more than 15 mm falling in one hour locally, with a few locations receiving over 40 mm in a 3 hour period.

Please refer to this website for further updates.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Rain

Valid from 09:00 on Sun, 05th Aug 2012 until 22:00 on Sun, 05th Aug 2012

Heavy showers, with a risk of thunder and hail, are again expected to develop through Sunday. These may be prolonged in places.

The public should be aware of the risk of surface water flooding and possible disruption to transport.
